Activities

- Fixed an error with Git when pulling from the remote repo.
- I updated the josh jobs excel file. I haven't done a lot in the past month to get these long-term projects done.
- Had a meeting with Priya and Adam where we discussed the progress of the long-term projects that were outstanding. We also added some new projects.

Ideas

- Story idea: A Victorian mystic detective/ghost hunter has his child abducted by evil spirits. Along with his wife, they search the spirit world to find the child and defeat the evil spirits.
 - Decide why the evil spirits want/need the child. Some kind of ritual?
 - should the wife die half way through?
 - Could this be a game?
- I read an article about what would happen if money had an expiry date.

Gratitudes

- I started to play a game called Sword and Sworcery and it was a really inspiring experience. I like the idea of making games like that. The art style was simple pixel art but visually stunning.
